Hello,

Thank you for your recent report. We have reviewed your report carefully and found that there was no violation of the Twitter Rules against abusive behavior (<https://twitter.com/rules>).

There are a number of factors we take into consideration when deciding whether to take action on content:

Context matters

- Some Tweets may seem to be abusive when viewed in isolation, but may not be when viewed in the context of a larger conversation. While we accept reports of violations from anyone, sometimes we also need to hear directly from the target to ensure that we have proper context.
- The number of reports we receive does not impact our assessment of whether something violates the Twitter Rules.

We focus on behavior

- In order to ensure that people feel safe expressing diverse opinions and beliefs, we do not tolerate behavior that crosses the line into abuse, including behavior that harasses, intimidates, or uses fear to silence another user's voice.
- Additionally, we enforce policies when someone reports behavior that is abusive and targets an entire protected group and/or individuals who may be members. This targeting can happen in multiple ways (e.g., mentioning someone, tagging someone in a photo, and more).

If, after you filed this original report, this person Tweeted additional content that you believe to be abusive, or if there's additional context you think we need to know regarding this situation, please reply to this email and provide us with further details (including links to any additional Tweets).

In addition to Twitter's efforts to enforce our Terms of Service, we also provide tools to assist users in controlling their Twitter experience:
<https://help.twitter.com/safety-and-security/control-your-twitter-experience>.

Thank you again for taking the time to submit your report to us. If you encounter additional content on Twitter that you believe to be abusive, please let us know by filing a new report.

Hello,

Thank you for reporting this issue to us. Our goal is to create a safe environment for everyone on Twitter to express themselves freely.

Tweet ID 1036994454903816192

This is #Scientology. Threats against Chrissie Bixler and her husband and young children. Threats of breaking into their house and planting drugs to get them arrested and kids taken away. Accusing them of child abuse. @LAPDHQ get out of Scientology's pockets and DO. YOUR. JOB. [...]

We're reviewing your report now. In the meantime, here are some actions you can take to make your Twitter experience safer:

- Don't respond to this person -- this may encourage this person's behavior.
- Use block (<https://help.twitter.com/using-twitter/blocking-and-unblocking-accounts>), a feature that prevents this person from contacting you or seeing your content while logged into Twitter.
- Use mute (<https://help.twitter.com/using-twitter/twitter-mute>), a tool that helps you tune out what this person is saying, without the person knowing you've muted them.
- If you think you're in immediate danger based on the Tweets you've received, we strongly encourage you to contact law enforcement. We're here to help you give law enforcement the information they need (<https://help.twitter.com/rules-and-policies/twitter-law-enforcement-support>).

We do not tolerate behavior on Twitter that harasses, intimidates, or uses fear to silence another person's voice. Learn more about our policy and how we enforce it: <https://help.twitter.com/rules-and-policies/hateful-conduct-policy>.

You can learn more about how to stay safe on Twitter by visiting the Twitter Safety Center (<https://about.twitter.com/safety>).

Thank you again for reporting this issue to us. Reports like this help us identify issues, making your communities and Twitter better.

In closing, when I think of our work, I think of my mom and dad in St. Louis, a Democrat and a Republican. We had lots of frustrating and heated debates, but looking back, I appreciate I was able to hear and challenge different perspectives. And I appreciate I felt safe to do so.

We acknowledge the growing concern people have of the power held by companies like Twitter. We believe it's dangerous to ask Twitter to regulate opinions or be the arbiter of truth. We'd rather be judged by the impartiality of outcomes, and criticized when we fail this principle.

What our algorithms decide to show in shared spaces, like search results, is based on thousands of signals that constantly learn and evolve over time. Some of those signals are engagement, some are the number of abuse reports. We balance all of these to prevent gaming our system.

Show this thread

jack @jack · Sep 5

Also, there's a distinction we need to make clear. When people follow you, you've earned that audience. And we have a responsibility to make sure they can see your tweets. We do not have a responsibility, nor you a right, to amplify your tweets to audiences that don't follow you.

195 197 685

Show this thread

jack @jack · Sep 5

Looking at the data, we analyzed tweets sent by all members of the House and Senate, and found no statistically significant difference between the number of times a tweet by a Democrat is viewed versus a Republican, even after our ranking and filtering of tweets has been applied.

For our part, machine learning teams at Twitter are experimenting with these techniques and developing roadmaps to ensure present and future machine learning models uphold a high standard when it comes to algorithmic fairness. It's an important step towards ensuring impartiality.

Bias in algorithms is an important topic. Our responsibility is to understand, measure, and reduce accidental bias due to factors such as the quality of the data used to train our algorithms. This is an extremely complex challenge facing everyone applying artificial intelligence.

71 123 360

Show this thread

jack @jack · Sep 5

Our technology was using a decision making criteria that considers the behavior of people following these accounts. We decided that wasn't fair, and corrected. We'll always improve our technology and algorithms to drive healthier usage, and measure the impartiality of outcomes.

57 76 252

Show this thread

jack @jack · Sep 5

In the spirit of accountability and transparency: recently we failed our intended impartiality. Our algorithms were unfairly filtering 600,000 accounts, including some members of Congress, from our search auto-complete and latest results. We fixed it. But how did it happen?

151 173 324

Show this thread

jack @jack · Sep 5

We build our policies and rules with a principle of impartiality: objective criteria, rather than on the basis of bias, prejudice, or preferring the benefit to one person over another for improper reasons. If we learn we failed to create impartial outcomes, we work hard to fix.

A default to free expression left unchecked can generate risks and dangers for people. It's important Twitter distinguishes between people's opinions and behaviors, and disarms behavior intending to silence another person, or adversely interfere with their universal human rights.

But we all have to think a lot bigger, and decades past today. We must ask the question: "what is Twitter incentivizing people to do (or not do), and why?" The answers will lead to tectonic shifts in how Twitter, and our industry, operates. Required changes won't be fast or easy.

Some fair points here. We certainly have a lot of work to do to help journalists do their jobs better. That's our intent. Help with reach, balance, and economic incentives. We're behind on those last two. Shouldn't take away from skepticism and critical thinking tho.

Jeff Jarvis  @jeffjarvis

If @jack had said this differently, journos might've said thanks: Twitter exists in a larger ecosystem in which journalism adds tremendous value. Every citizen would be wise to depend on journalists to confirm information and refute lies. We at Twitter value journalism highly. twitter.com/jack/status/10...

Relying on algorithms alone will not work. Not today, not tomorrow. And we know providing broader reach isn't enough. We need to figure out how to help with economic incentives too. We're behind on that, but thinking deeply about it. Open to great and scalable ideas.

One of the most important constituencies we serve is our journalist population. Has been since day 1. We don't mean to shift the work here. We must build tools to help (and need to work together to do that). We can't be a useful service without the integrity journalists bring.

jack  @jack

Accounts like Jones' can often sensationalize issues and spread unsubstantiated rumors, so it's critical journalists document, validate, and refute such information directly so people can form their own opinions. This is what serves the public conversation best.

If we succumb and simply react to outside pressure, rather than straightforward principles we enforce (and evolve) impartially regardless of political viewpoints, we become a service that's constructed by our personal views that can swing in any direction. That's not us.

 1.7K  1.4K  8.4K Show this threadjack  @jack · Aug 7

Truth is we've been terrible at explaining our decisions in the past. We're fixing that. We're going to hold Jones to the same standard we hold to every account, not taking one-off actions to make us feel good in the short term, and adding fuel to new conspiracy theories.

 1.7K  810  6.1K Show this threadjack  @jack · Aug 7

We didn't suspend Alex Jones or Infowars yesterday. We know that's hard for many but the reason is simple: he hasn't violated our rules. We'll enforce if he does. And we'll continue to promote a healthy conversational environment by ensuring tweets aren't artificially amplified.

As many of you know, Ed Ho went on leave in May to recharge, and while he was on leave his wife's mother unexpectedly passed away. Ed has decided that he is most needed at home and isn't ready to return to work full time. Instead he will work in a part-time capacity advising our efforts 1 day a week on the Health of the Public Conversation and helping Staff where needed. It is his hope that he will be able to return full time under this structure before our #oneteam gathering in San Francisco, where we will look forward to the work we need to do for the next 7-10 years. Again, this isn't going to be an easy shift, and I thank all of you for the trust you give me and staff, and all the practice needed to make our org and work sing.

I'm confident, and I'm excited. We have a lot of tough challenges ahead of us. Challenges that if we face and overcome, will have the potential to impact all people in the world positively. I believe in this with every part of my being. This is a small but important step towards that, and I'm excited to do this because I want to work at an open company, where people truly understand how we think and work. It will help earn us trust. I want our company to be reflective of what we're trying to do in the world, serve THE public conversation, and participate fully in all critique and debate that comes with it. We will learn from this, and take those learnings to improve. It's going to take a lot of time and experimentation to be as open as I want us to be. Thank you for the trust you place in me here!

We're reorganizing how Twitter is going to work together for the next decade. Sent this note to our team, and sharing with the world, because we want to be more open about how we think and work. This is a small but important step. Experimenting! Let us know what you think.

I've been reflecting on a few things. First, what an amazing and challenging 3 years it's been. I remember an all-hands over two years ago when I said that the next few years aren't going to be easy. And that this won't be for everyone. Some of our colleagues and friends are going to leave us. But for those that stick with us, we will make it through. And it will feel amazing.

Here we are! And I am proud of us. I feel an overwhelming sense of accomplishment, appreciation, and gratefulness for all of you. For all of the people that left for all of you who stuck my confidence in our ability not only to last, but to thrive. We're definitely on the cusp of something great. And it can be felt in our workspaces around the world, and in the voices of the people we serve.

Through the lens of increasing our durability, agility, invention and entrepreneurial drive, and simplifying the way we work, I've decided to make our organization more straightforward. We finally have the people and collaborative environment to do this. And I believe we should always consider big changes when everything is going right, to make certain will move to Matt, broadening his customer focus.

Our leadership structure becomes straightforward:

1. Technology: Parag
2. Engineering: Mike
3. Product: Kayvon
4. Revenue Product: Bruce
5. Design and Research: Grace
6. Customers: Matt
7. People and Marketing: Leslie
8. Counsel ("new team name): Vijaya
9. Finance: Ned
10. Assistants: Sierra!

approach and team dynamic. We have certainly made good on both, but it's not a true GM structure in the full sense of being full-stack. The most glaring examples of this are a separate design and video org that had to matrix in. While we made this work for us, and work very well, we still have to work around it. It's not a structure that will stand the test of time, especially considering we have one main surface area (the Bluebird service) we all have to work through.

A pure end-to-end functional organization

There have been concerns around how we're transitioning Smyte's customers. We could have done better and are learning from this experience. Here's the email I just sent to our team.

I wanted to follow up on this as we've been receiving a lot of questions around the shutdown of Smyte's business. Many of you have expressed your concerns over the abrupt termination and we wanted to share more detail on why we made this decision.

- Our intention was to give Smyte's customers more time to transition.
- When the deal closed, Smyte and their data would become a part of Twitter.
- Late during the diligence process we determined we couldn't operate their business and continue collecting data from their customers, while continuing to meet our own internal high standards as a global company.
- With all that in mind, we made the difficult decision to wind things down right away.

- We feel terribly that this caused confusion and disruption for Smyte's customers and their employees and we're working to help them through this transition.

We're going to learn from this and I believe we could Difficult, but necessary Tesla reorg underway. My email to the company has already leaked to media. Here it is unfiltered:

across our whole company. Tesla has grown and evolved rapidly over the past several years, which has resulted in some duplication of roles and some job functions that, while they made sense in the past, are difficult to justify today.

As part of this effort, and the need to reduce costs and become profitable, we have made the difficult decision to let go of approximately 9% of our colleagues across the company. These cuts were almost entirely made from our salaried population and no production associates were included, so this will not affect our ability to reach Model 3 production targets in the coming months.

assessing the specific skills and abilities of each individual in the company. As you know, we are also continuing to flatten our management structure to help us communicate better, eliminate bureaucracy and move faster.

In addition to this company-wide restructuring, we've decided not to renew our residential sales agreement with Home Depot in order to focus our efforts on selling solar power in Tesla stores and online. The majority of Tesla employees working at Home Depot will be offered the opportunity to move over to Tesla retail locations.

I would like to thank everyone who is departing Tesla for their hard work over the years. I'm decision making and we move forward again.

To those who are departing, thank you for everything you've done for Tesla and we wish you well in your future opportunities. To those remaining, I would like to thank you in advance for the difficult job that remains ahead. We are a small company in one of the toughest and most competitive industries on Earth, where just staying alive, let alone growing, is a form of victory (Tesla and Ford remain the only American car companies who haven't gone bankrupt). Yet, despite our tiny size, Tesla has already played a major role in moving the auto industry towards sustainable electric transport and moving the energy industry towards sustainable power generation and storage. We Mav Carter says LeBron James spends ~$1.5 million per year on his body, using cryotherapy, hyperbaric chambers, NormaTec equipment, top trainers, personal chefs, etc. He has a strict routine and diet that he always follows. Jeff Green and Iman Shumpert rave about Bron's regimen:

JEFF GREEN: "He can play as long as he wants. He's a guy who really puts his money into his body and takes care of his body. He does whatever is necessary to make sure he's able to go out every night and give it his all. The way he's going, I think it'll be up to him [when he's done playing]. He'll decide when he wants to shut it down, given how much work he puts into his body. The question is: How many years does he want to play? I think it'll be totally up to him. If you look at his game, he's 15 years in and he still finishes above the rim and he didn't miss a single game this season. I mean, he's been everything for us this year. How many years is he going to play? You'd have to ask him [how long he wants to play]."

IMAN SHUMPERT: "That man really takes care of his body. He's always [working with] his trainers. He always has ice on after every game. No matter what, he's going to sit there [and prioritize his recovery]. People may say it's 'diva-ish' because that man will get his treatment even if it means being late. But his mentality is, 'I'm going to get my treatment, even if it means I'm late to your event that you're paying me all this money to be a, because that's what I have to do to preserve my body so I can do all this again tomorrow.' His recovery is what's most important. He really takes care of his body, man."

Dear everyone who works at @Twitter, you saved my mom's life this week.

I thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Here's the story. Crying tears of joy today for my mom, all because I sent a tweet.

My mom had 90% blockage in both arteries to her legs. Some doctor in LA said needed to cut her open all the way down her body and high risk surgery for recovery.

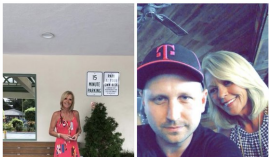

A year ago, I tweeted about my surgery which was also cardiovascular and a Stanford person DM'd me randomly followed me on Twitter. Said dr lee is best in the world. I went and saw him.

When my mom called me devastated I forwarded her files to dr lee, the random guy from twitter who I went and saw about my surgery. He responded instantly "I can help"

My mom did a new microscopic surgery, both legs are 90% back to normal blood flow and

Thanks to all my family and friends for the prayers love and support this week. Special thanks to my amazing son Shane Mac for being by my side.

My deepest sincere appreciation to my 3 amazing surgeons Dr Jason Lee Team and staff at Stanford. 1st class and best in the world. Surgery was a success! ❤️ believed that somebody made purely of light could never exist. That was until I met Emma González. Emma knew of me before we were brought together by tragedy, but I never knew of her. Boy, was I wasting my time on this planet not knowing Emma González. To those who have looked her in the eyes, I'm sure you understand, but to those who haven't—there is a goodness there that I have never seen before. Again, people can be amazing and beautiful embracing and loving their darkness, but Emma González simply does not have any. Emma is a pure beacon of light in this world that makes González speaks for love. I swear on my life that I wouldn't be surprised if she could speak to animals. Everybody I work with is amazing and I'm going to be writing about everybody specifically, but I wanted to start with Emma because she is so much of what keeps us going. The light she brings with her brings us out of the darkness surrounding us. With Emma, no matter who you are, you are loved and embraced as long as there is goodness inside of you. Emma makes my team and I so much happier and more comfortable to be ourselves. My community just went through a great tragedy, but from the dark

During his pregame availability today, Spurs coach Gregg Popovich was asked for his thoughts on yesterday's #MarchForOurLives in Washington, D.C. Here is his full, three-minute response:

Well, the future of the country is a pretty big thing. There's not one event that's going to signal what it's going to be like in the future. But I can tell you that I'm sure most everybody's got to be unbelievable proud and excited about those students and what they've done, because our politicians have certainly sat on their thumbs and just hidden. You know, to me it's almost like a dereliction of duty to watch all these people get killed with guns in so many different ways, whether it's nightclubs or schools or our cities, and it seems that the power and the money are more important than the lives.

So to see these teenagers demand this, you know it takes you back. And you think about it, the civil rights movement didn't really flip and change until people saw things on TV. You know, they saw policemen with fire hoses, and dogs biting old black men and women, people being beaten with sticks. And then you get to the Vietnam War, and we're in it forever and blah blah blah and then what happens? Film starts coming back with arms and legs blown off and coffins. And I can still remember the little girl that was napalmed running down the road. Things change when that happens.

And in this situation, these students are the same way. Images are important. Obviously, you can't put an image on TV of what happened in that classroom. That would be pretty horrifying, but if you just sit for a moment and imagine those bullets going through those bodies and what those bodies might have looked like afterward, how can the president of your country talk about all of the things he's going to do and then go have lunch with the NRA and change it. It's just cowardice. A real leader would have been in Washington, D.C. this weekend, not at his penthouse at Mar-A-Lago. He would have had the decency to meet with a group to see what's going on and how important it is. And how important our children should be to us.

So, for all those politicians involved, it's just a dereliction of duty. And they can talk about the age limit and the background checks and all that, but the real discussion is: what kind of a country, what kind of a culture do we want? To go back and investigate the Second Amendment, what does it really mean today? And what are we willing to give up for the safety of our children? The people in power don't want to talk about that and the fact that our president left town is a real indication of how much he really cares about anything other than feeding his insatiable ego.

Congrats to Francoise and @Pinterest!

Aaron Zamost @zamosta
Great move for Pinterest. The only thing Francoise can't do is properly quote American idioms. She once told me that there are many ways to kill a cat.

Saying your name isn't speaking to you. You've been saying her name constantly but you're not talking to her directly. You're really paranoid, aren't you? I know you Scilons don't believe in pharmaceutical intervention so you might want to do a rundown.

 You said primarily, German, British and Italian, is there any more? If so, continue. If you are only German, British and Italian, I don't know what that falls under, what demographic it hits, I think it hits 3 demographics, one for German, one for British and one for Italian.

1. Children are not prostitutes- they are victimized and trafficked by low life, criminal adults.
2. Children are not ever willing participants in their sexual race or abuse. They are helpless victims with no choice.
Not understanding this makes one a dangerous, ill adult.

Isn't that funny. For us it was a matter of survival. The deer meat helped us get through the winter. My fam were vege farmers and would trade with the steer farmers next door but when beef was less than abundant, my fam would deer hunt. Plus deer are always over populated here

I don't think the issue is should we have gun cause we won't. The issue is not really the law abiding gun owners. It's the low checks, mass murder, school shooting and accidental killings. One toddler a week in America last year killed themselves with a gun. Stupid and guns =nope

I get that Gotta do is Google it. Google is your friend. Millions of places to buy anything. But it could be a big risk. You could get crap. You could get taken for your money ~ some know how that goes 😂 and not get any product. Or it could be an undercover sting.

You can even order cocaine off why do you guys know that? You really can't get anything off the Internet like Susan said figure cash to get you anything. At least you THINK you are getting what you ordered! But we know that's not necessarily true is it 🤔🤔🤔🤔

See that's what I can't get over, why?? I get 100% wanting to be safe, but there's the otherside of the coin, if someone pulls a gun at you they have a choice to pull that trigger or not. But the moment you pull a gun back at them that choice they have is taken away...

My daughter wouldn't be walking outside the door if I thought when she was in school there was even a remote chance of that happening. With her history I still even tho she's 21 keep close tabs on her when she's out at night.

What we have here a lot to are little kids to get a hold of guns and shoot their siblings or shoot their neighbors or themselves

Sky Madison 🍷 @skyMadison5 · 22h

Wow. That's a bit extreme I don't know anybody who does that. Maybe they've had problems are they living in a different type of neighborhood. But more than that though you know when you have a guns at homes lot of times they shoot the wrong person like a family member 😞.

It can be if you trip on it too much. I also have a selfish thought when schools have these problems that I think God my kids aren't in school anymore they went to very Guarded private schools. But I still would have pulled them right out and homeschooled them. I think.

The whole world is watching Chrissie and her accomplices cause she made mainstream media.

I'm sure, Chrissie and her accomplices think, you're too slow, ha ha, we can delete our tweets, lie and get away with it, ha ha. Nobody will ever know how we abused you, committed hate crimes on you and got away with it cause we just lie.

The entire planet, worldwide, globally is watching. I wonder how it will turn out for Chrissie and her accomplices?

I know hun, I've followed both Mel and Chrissie since around December/January time. It's why I have an issue with Fetti, I seen what he said to Mel first time around and I've watched how Chrissie has fought against them. Both are overwhelmingly strong women to stand up to that.

They reserve the bottom of the barrel for social media, clearly. The real intimidation is the shit they do offline to people like Chrissie who stand up and won't sit back down. They've messed with Mel too. They paid me a visit, but nothing like what they've done to Chrissie.

Someone on Twitter is engaging in abusive or harassing behavior

What are you reporting?

- ☐ Harassment
- ☐ Specific violent threats involving physical safety or well-being
- ☐ Exposed private information or photo
- ☐ Someone on Twitter is posting spam
- ☒ Directs hate against a protected category (e.g., race, religion, gender, orientation, disability)

For more information, please visit our Help Center (</articles/20175050-hateful-conduct-policy>).

These actions are...

- ☒ Directed at me (e.g. @mention, name, nickname or pseudonym)
- ☐ Directed at someone I legally represent (e.g. a client or my child)
- ☐ Directed at others (e.g. a friend or group)
- ☐ Directed at a group

Further description of problem

The above tweet was part of a hate crimes incident online including false reporting to the LAPD.

Please see my full story along the laws they broke and evidence as these people deleted some of their tweets.

<http://www.fedcourt.info/hate-crimes-committed-by-chrissie-carnell-bixler-aka-chrissie-bixler-carnell-and-her-accomplices/>

This is going to Federal Court and I've already tweeted Jack so he's informed.

These are hate crimes including attempted murder which are felonies, these aren't misdemeanors.

Tonight I logged on to my personal blog twitter and got this "We've temporarily limited some of your account features"

The tweet was very blunt and didn't break any laws, so I have no idea why it was reported nor by who/whom.

I'd like to know who/whom made the false reports, was it <https://twitter.com/Anneinma> or somebody else that wants me to think it's her?

I was also in the middle of gathering evidence hence conversing with her and we weren't done talking and since my account has been temporarily limited, I can't complete that cycle of action and by doing this, they are using twitter to tamper with evidence and obstruct Justice. Tampering with evidence is up to 20 years per count and since these are felonies including attempted murder, the Judges will do the max, 20 years.

I'd like to find out who/whom is tampering with evidence and Obstructing Justice? Who/whom made false reports to Twitter. It might not even be Anneinma, but somebody else that wants me to think it's her to cause me pain, to reinforce pain and trauma to hide their crimes cause I'm in the process of going to Federal Court, I'm authenticating evidence at FedCourt.info as I have two lawsuits to file simultaneously, the 1st one is against the FBI/DOJ/LAPD and the 2nd is against the LAPD/OliveViewMedical/ChurchOfScientology.

What's wrong with the platform here is false reports are rampant and the victims of these false reports never know whose making false reports on them to cause them pain. Please look into it and let me know. What I'd like to know is who/whom made false reports that resulted in my personal blog twitter being limited. I also can't delete that tweet as it's part of evidence so my account will have to stay this way until I get to Federal Court.

Thank You,
Kathy Gold

No, she said that Chrissie and I called LAPD with false reports because we (Chrissie and I) want her to kill herself. We reported her because she was tweeting about killing herself and we were genuinely concerned! And in return she wants us murdered. Graphically.

There's another blog post from yesterday where she says Chrissie and I called @LAPDHQ etc and made false reports against her (not true) because we want her to kill herself. She's the one who says our bodies won't be found and we'll just disappear off twitter and no one will know!

Accomplices Are Like Permit Patty

https://www.huffingtonpost.com/entry/permit-patty-allison-ettel-911-call-audio_us_5b3a4ad7e4b09e4a8b25e694

I tweeted this Chrissie woman to help her and she turned around and starts attacking me, taking my words out of context and twisting them, altering them and then trying to abuse me with them. Then she tried to get others to abuse me as well.

Their intention was to have the police murder me with false reports.

Both is that I die, whether I kill myself or somebody else does it. It's cause they are criminals, to stifle the victims voice. I missed their withholds of crimes including doing this to others online and off.

Whether you are a survivor or not, if this happens to you, your friends, your children etc etc, document including video so you can put your police reports in and sue them in court, whether state or federal.

Don't let these bullies abuse you, don't put up with their shit, you can fight back and make bank off their hate, 3 times the damages per count, hold them responsible and accountable for their actions of hate.

My favorite part of her threat from today is how she's going to "love killing us" and "make money off our dead bodies". Seriously boo, let's go to that courtroom any time. Only one leaving in handcuffs will be you.

Again, the countless krak character, the deadly assassin, assassin's get paid to kill.

This is also not against the law but I'm sure Chrissie and her accomplices will take it out of context in an attempt to do the above scene, so this is gonna be fun to kill these religious haters and make money off their dead bodies and their hate, 3 times per count. Oh no, their children LMAO they never put their children first, notice these women never once put their children and their children's safety first, ahead of themselves. Women that do, don't go online attacking and committing crimes on victims. They think about the repercussions it will have on their children. These women could give a fuck, it's all about them, them and them.

They are SP's with no power, just the power to scare

Oh I'll be there. You made a direct threat against me, in writing. We have not threatened to kill or harm you in any way. We tried to get a wellness check the other night because you were tweeting about killing yourself. In return you want Chrissie and me "assassinated".

If Chrissie Or Any Of Her Accomplices Come Near Me Offline

I will kill them to defend myself, their intent is to murder me and murder is against the law, premeditating murder is also against the law.

do the above scene, so this is gonna be fun to kill these religious haters and make money off their dead bodies and their hate, 3 times per count. Oh no, their children LMAO they never put their children first, notice these women never once put their children and their children's safety first, ahead of themselves. Women that do, don't go online attacking and committing crimes on victims. They think about the repercussions it will have on their children. These women could give a fuck, it's all about them, them and them.

They are SP's with no power, just the power to scare people online, hoping by lies and manipulation, somebody offline will murder the people they are terrorizing, so it gives the illusion they have power.

Most likely what's gonna happen is, they will be hurted suspect, I'm not their first victim online, so I suspect, other victims they did this too prior to me, they also tweeted the FBI and they would have pulled in those criminals then.

I'm sure they all figure these women will just blame this religion and Danny Matherson and then everybody will buy it hook line and sinker cause Danny got fired from Netflix cause of an accusation and Newsweek printed her story and etc. A nice cause for their crimes. Now instead of

Then I'll call law enforcement to come pick up their dead bodies and I'll use their dead bodies as evidence in my cases, more money for me or cha ching.

And for me to kill people defending myself is not against the law so when their families try to sue for wrongful death, it will be kicked out and they will be counter sued for my time and damages.

After 9/11, the FBI was the only federal agency that was not involved in the investigation of the 9/11 attacks. The FBI was the only federal agency that was not involved in the investigation of the 9/11 attacks.

In the end, Chrissie and her accomplices will have pulled it in.

If you are a victim of these women and you didn't go to court, are very PTSDed out caused by them and uppers and downers is really just made your PTSD worse etc etc, and they were off line to terrorize and victimize you but the police did nothing and they physically harmed you or your family or your friends etc etc don't be afraid to tell them to defend yourself, to defend your family, to defend your friends and use their dead bodies as evidence in your case against them.

You can take their families assets to pay for your damages. These women have families and their families have a duty, responsibility to intervene but instead neglected to, failed to act, so that makes them liable.

Self defense is not a crime, it's legal.

Ok, bottom line. What do you want? Do you want Mat to apologize here and now for lumping you in with a group of people that are pretty damn evil? Will you meet him halfway and apologize for calling him a rapist and pedophile? Could you then just agree to just ignore each other?

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · May 28

Replying to @MarieCorcoran13

I'm not backpedaling. You want to attach that to me so badly but its just your perception. I'm looking for a pattern in the year since then. He said something shitty a year ago. So have you, and so have I and so has everyone else on twitter who argues about stuff.

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · May 28

Replying to @MarieCorcoran13

That's where using single tweets gets twisted. It takes it out of context. There's no frame of reference for the comment. Should he have called a Nazi sympathizer? No.I wouldn't have liked it either. You called him a rapist. Equally uncalled for. We all do it, I'll own that I have.

Things NOT to do on Twitter, part 3:

1. Attack a mother whose child just ran for her life out of a school that was being shot up

3. Try to claim moral high ground when you're really a sociopath.

Scientology Death - Lisa McPherson

From Wikipedia: Lisa McPherson (February 10, 1959 – December 5, 1995) was a member of the Church of Scientology who died of a pulmonary embolism while under the care of the Church of Scientology Flag Service Organization, Inc. Following the report of the state medical examiner that indicated that Lisa was a victim of negligent homicide, the Church of Scientology was indicted on two felony charges, "abuse and/or neglect of a disabled adult" and "negligent homicide without a license." The charges against the Church of Scientology were dropped after a medical examiner changed the cause of death from "undetermined" to "pulmonary embolism." A civil suit brought by her family against the Church was settled on May 2, 1997.

Sounds familiar.

Gaslighting Effect @GaslightingEfct
The Narcissist takes great pleasure in gaslighting their victim in public, by grandiose displays of humiliation that provoke an emotional reaction. Social settings become so uncomfortable that victims often retreat, withdrawal and become isolated.

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · Apr 28

@DiceMore I meant to tag you on this earlier...sorry!!

About a week ago, a former 2nd generation Scientologist was publicly framed by Chris Elston for committing a "crime" of sending a "death threat" through an email. He traced the IP to a general location in Arizona, supposedly, and based on that accused this woman of having sent the email, without having any further evidence implicating her. He contacted both the FBI and the authorities in Canada where he lives, but not until after he posted the email on social media and used it as bait to get more followers in his flailing facebook group, because apparently that's the first thing you do when you're concerned for your own safety. He told the FBI that he was "very worried " about her and told them he didn't know if she might be a real threat to himself and his family. The FBI did contact her, and she met with them this past Friday, April 27th. The FBI agent said that the email legally does NOT constitute a death threat, as no specific threats were said (i.e. I'm going to shoot a school, etc). The FBI agent then said that the IP address that Elston was claiming was tracked to Phoenix had been manipulated. That it actually did not track back to anywhere in Arizona at all. The FBI agent said she was NOT a suspect in anything because no crime had been committed, no threat had been issued, and the FBI is closing the case. Furthermore they are going to instruct the authorities in Canada to tell Chris Elston to avoid her entirely, as she should also do, for her own sake.

What this man has done, with no remorse or regret, is what Scientology calls "fair game". He tries to dead agent people who don't agree with him (spread vicious rumors in an attempt to discredit us in the community), and it's almost always women. He tries to break communication between

About a week ago, a former 2nd generation Scientologist was publicly framed by Chris Elston for committing a "crime" of sending a "death threat" through an email. He traced the IP to a general location in Arizona, supposedly, and based on that accused this woman of having sent the email, without having any further evidence implicating her. He contacted both the FBI and the authorities in Canada where he lives, but not until after he posted the email on social media and used it as bait to get more followers in his flailing facebook group, because apparently that's the first thing you do when you're concerned for your own safety. He told the FBI that he was "very worried " about her and told them he didn't know if she might be a real threat to himself and his family. The FBI did contact her, and she met with them this past Friday, April 27th. The FBI agent said that the email legally does NOT constitute a death threat, as no specific threats were said (i.e. I'm going to shoot a school, etc). The FBI agent then said that the IP address that Elston was claiming was tracked to Phoenix had been manipulated. That it actually did not track back to anywhere in Arizona at all. The FBI agent said she was NOT a suspect in anything because no crime had been committed, no threat had been issued, and the FBI is closing the case. Furthermore they are going to instruct the authorities in Canada to tell Chris Elston to avoid her entirely, as she should also do, for her own sake.

What this man has done, with no remorse or regret, is what Scientology calls "fair game". He tries to dead agent people who don't agree with him (spread vicious rumors in an attempt to discredit us in the community), and it's almost always women. He tries to break communication between

#Scientology Singing Group "Jive Aces" Disbanded

“The Scientology singing group known as the Jive Aces has been disbanded by orders of COB RTC Mr. David Miscavige,” said Church spokesman Ken Delusion.

“The members of the Jive Aces have been reassigned as groundskeepers at St. Hill Manor.”

That scenario is a very different thing from being lured into a car and raped by an adult. You believe a little girl is guilty of being a trusting child? Kidnapping happens exactly that way. Is it a child's fault for being abducted?

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · Apr 16

Replying to @JonathonBarbera @1225paris and 10 others

I didn't ask you to audit me. I'm not "stuck in the past", I merely asked you a question based on your tweet about how a child has a measure of responsibility in having been raped. I'm struggling to understand how you can believe that's true, other than that's what LRH said.

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · Apr 16

So as a 3rd generation Scientologist, it would be your belief that children aren't children. They're thetans in small bodies and even a 7 yr old girl should not react to being passionately kissed by an adult. That's a direct LRH quote. Do you subscribe to that belief?

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · Apr 16

Replying to @hbic826 @1225paris and 10 others

Thanks my friends. I know it wasn't my fault. I was just a little girl. Same as Melissa was, same as every child who is sexually abused or assaulted. The Scientology belief that children aren't children, but adults in small bodies is horse shit. Victim blaming a child is sick.

Anne Krzanowski @Anneinma · Apr 16

Thank you, I appreciate that. Jonathon's tweet about a child having some responsibility for getting in a car and ultimately being raped (I don't remember exact wording) has gotten a lot of negative attention. It infers that the violence against the child is somehow their fault.

Jonathon have you lost your freaking mind? At what point, ever, is a little child responsible for an adult's decision to molest them? Was I responsible for my sexual abuse when I was 8 years old, by a relative I trusted...because I was a child? How exactly did I pull that in?

Hate Crimes Committed By Chrissie Carnell Bixler Aka Chrissie Bixler Carnell And Her Accomplices

On September 2, 2018, I wrote on my personal blog a post and tweeted Chrissie Bixler.

Prior to that, I did an evaluation of The Danny Masterson Rape Cases and tweeted both Danny Masterson and Chrissie Bixler.

I tweeted Chrissie Bixler and after telling her my story of what happened to me, she then started attacking me, abusing me cause I'm a Scientologist.

She asked me not to tweet her and I said no problem. Then she started tweeting me and encouraging others to attack me and abuse me and harass me cause I'm a Scientologist.

She also took my words including my blog posts out of context and started lying to everybody on twitter and started encouraging others to abuse me and attack me and people jumped in and started abusing me, harassing me cause I'm a Scientologist. These are strangers I don't know, have never met nor have spoken to.

Basically they're all trying to reinforce the pain and trauma of the 2 back to back sexual abuse incidents from 1998 as well as reinforce the pain and trauma of the PTSDs.

That was on 9/4/2018 at around 2:00am, these attacks continued through out the day I got like over 100 attacks between both twitter accounts.

This evening, Chrissie and her accomplices tweeted me that they made false reports to @911LAPD @LAPDHQ

This falls under hate crimes cause of my

If Chrissie Or Any Of Her Accomplices Come Near Me Offline

9/7/2018

I will kill them to defend myself, their intent is to murder me and murder is against the law, premeditated murder is also against the law.

Then I'll call law enforcement to come pick up their dead bodies and I'll use their dead bodies as evidence in my cases, more money for me or cha ching.

And for me to kill people defending myself is not against the law so when their families try to sue for wrongful death, it will be kicked out and they will be counter sued for my time and damages.

Again, the countless krak character, the deadly assassin, assassin's get paid to kill.

This is also not against the law but I'm sure Chrissie and her accomplices will take it out of context in an attempt to do the above some, so this is gonna be fun to kill these religious haters and make money off their dead bodies and their hate. 3 times per count. Oh no, their children LMAO they never put their children first, notice these women never once put their children and their children's safety first, ahead of themselves. Women that do, don't go online attacking and committing crimes on victims. They think about the repercussions it will have on their children. These women could give a fuck, it's all about them, them and them.

They are SP's with no power, just the power to scare people online, hoping by lies and manipulation, somebody offline will murder the people they are terrorizing, so it gives the illusion they have power.

Most likely what's gonna happen is, they will be hunted down from the internet by real evil people and kidnapped, raped, tortured and murdered but nobody will know, they'll disappear, one by one and I don't think local police will give a shit, they'll ignore the case, it won't make the press, nobody will ever know, they'll have just stopped tweeting or deleted their social media and blew.

Since they committed these crimes on me, and tweeted the FBI, the FBI runs the Federal Prisons, there is hardcore criminals that monitor the FBI's twitter, regularly and now Chrissie and her accomplices have come on their radar. If they have been doing this to other victims, which I suspect, I'm not their first victim online, so I suspect, other victims they did this too prior to me, they also tweeted the FBI and they would have pulled in those criminals then.

I'm sure they all figure these women will just blame this religion and Danny Masterson and then everybody will buy it hook line and sinker cause Danny got fired from Netflix cause of an accusation and Newsweek printed her story etc etc. A nice cover for their crimes. Now instead of Lisa's death, there will be a string of them. Act 2 of the Lisa Mpherson case online war between this church and the anti scion community.

In the end, Chrissie and her accomplices will have pulled it in.

If you are a victim of these women and you didn't go to court to enforce laws including putting them in prison to stop the harassment, to stop the abuse etc etc cause there was no attorneys, you don't know how to type up a lawsuit, are very PTSDed out caused by them and uppers and downers ie meds just made your PTSDs worse etc etc and they went off line to terrorize and victimize you but the police did nothing and they physically harmed you or your family or your friends etc etc don't be afraid to kill them to defend yourself, to defend your family, to defend your friends and use their dead bodies as evidence in your case against them.

You can take their families assets to pay for your damages. These women have families and their families have a duty.

Antman 1 I loved, can't wait to see the new one. GoG 1 is better than 2 and personally I want impressed with Black Panther, it sets up the story for infinity war brilliant but that's about it IMO x but enjoy and let's know what you think if them all xxx

That show was in when I was in high school. I loved it. It's definitely that hive mind mentality, you're right. Oddly enough, a year after that show ended was when I joined Scientology, in 1986. Apparently I needed to experience hive mind for myself to know just how crazy it is!
